Dear Sir,

We are students of a French high school next to Paris. We wish to draw your attention to climate change which is a real problem for the world. We must pay attention to it, so we want to encourage people to react and act. We want people to change their behaviour. And then, we wish to propose many different solutions to cope with climate change.

First of all, climate change can have many different consequences on the world. It causes pollution, drought and flood ; and the ice cap melts because of this. Some animals are endangered because global warming threatens them. In some places, there is too much water and it can be flooded whereas other places lack water.

As solutions, we can curb pollution, use renewable energies and pay taxes if we pollute. We can also favor the protection of the environment, reduce fossil energies and gas, mostly methane and carbon dioxide. We must promote public transports: for example by making free train or bus tickets ; and we can use biomass.

We would be most grateful if you could settle these matters.

Yours faithfully,

Delphine Sun and Tshiony Kadima
